It's easy to feel overwhelmed by the challenge of homelessness in Los Angeles. After all, homelessness is on the rise and an increasing number of women and children, in particular, are living on the street. But there is an answer:

Proposition HHH.

Prop HHH is a $1.2 billion bond measure to end and prevent chronic homelessness in our city. The bond will allow the city to add 10,000 units of permanent housing and crisis supports for homeless parents, children, veterans, seniors, foster children, and the disabled.

YOU CAN TAKE A CRITICAL STEP TO END HOMELESSNESS IN LOS ANGELES BY
VOTING YES ON HHH
ON NOVEMBER 8

LAST PAGE OF YOUR BALLOT

Your YES vote on Prop HHH is a critical step in ending homelessness in Los Angeles. Voting YES Will:

- ✓ Help Los Angeles generate $1.2 billion to invest in safe, clean housing for the city's homeless population.
- ✓ Expand access to facilities for mental health, drug, and alcohol treatment.
- ✓ Support long-term housing assistance programs and emergency and crisis supports.
- ✓ Ensure strict oversight and independent audits of funding.

---

Without your YES vote on Prop HHH, homelessness in Los Angeles will only get worse. Consider the current crisis:

- ✗ There are more than 28,000 homeless mothers, fathers, children, veterans, seniors, and others in Los Angeles.
- ✗ Homelessness in Los Angeles went up 11% last year alone.
- ✗ The number of encampments around the city and people living in vehicles on our streets increased by 20%.
- ✗ Women, many of whom have been victims of rape and assault, account for 61% of the homelessness increase since 2011.

---

You can change the future of Los Angeles by voting YES on Prop HHH on November 8.
